Subject: Mutual Separation

Dear Ashok,

1. Pursuant to your letter of resignation dated September 22, 2026, this letter encapsulates the mutual understanding reached between you and Beam Global Spirits & Wine (India) Private Limited ("Company") in relation to your separation from the Company.

2. Your employment with the Company will come to an end with effect from December 22, 2026 (Separation Date") on the terms provided hereinafter. The period between the date of this letter and the Separation Date will be treated as the "Separation Period" for the purposes of this letter.

3. The Company may, in its sole discretion, place you on 'garden leave' at any time during your Separation Period. This garden leave period shall commence on the date notified, in writing or over email, to you by your HR Business Partner. During your garden leave:

   a. You are no longer required to come in to work unless the Company expressly requests that you do so, in which case you shall abide by Company's request.
   b. You must not contact, communicate or meet with any of the Company's customers, suppliers, employees, officers or representatives, without your Direct Manager's express prior permission in writing.
   c. You shall remain available during normal working hours to handle with any work-related matters that may arise.
   d. You will have limited or no access to the Company's network or systems under written communication as deemed appropriate and necessary by the Company; and
   e. You should not undertake any other business or profession activity without the Company's prior written consent.

   For avoidance of doubt, during the garden leave/Separation Period the Company will continue to pay your current monthly remuneration/salary, and you shall continue to be entitled to all the benefits under your employment contract.

4. As an appreciation for your valuable services to the Company, the Company has decided to pay you a gratis compensation ("Ex-gratia Compensation") subject to you fulfilling your obligations under the terms of this letter in good standing to the satisfaction of the Company. For the purposes of this letter, "good standing" shall be attained by complying with the conditions set out in this letter and satisfactorily executing job-specific objectives, including knowledge transfer and the various needs which may be identified by Company's management from time to time till the Separation Date.

5. The payment of Ex-gratia Compensation is over and above the contractual and statutory obligations of the Company and is conditioned upon your abiding and continuing to abide by the terms of this letter, outlined herein. However, should you violate any terms of this letter, you will be required to pay back the Company the entire Ex-gratia Compensation.

6. The Ex-gratia Compensation will not be included in calculating any employment related benefits and will not be considered an acquired right.

7. If, before completion of the Separation Period, you request for an earlier release and such release is approved by the Company at its sole discretion, then as contemplated under this letter, a pro-rated Ex-gratia Compensation maybe paid to you, calculated basis the last date of your employment.

8. Where the employment comes to an end at an earlier date in terms of paragraph 7 above, the term "Separation Date" wherever used in this letter shall be construed to mean such mutually agreed earlier date of separation from the employment of the Company.

9. If you take up employment with the Company or any of the Company's Affiliate Companies pursuant to the Company's facilitation before the Separation Date or within six (6) months after the Separation Date:

   (a) If applicable, a new employment agreement will be signed with you.
   (b) This letter shall be deemed null and void with immediate effect; and
   (c) you will not be eligible for Ex-gratia Compensation under paragraph 4 ("Repayment Sum"), and you shall return to the Company any Repayment Sum received by you within seven days from the date of demand by the Company.

   "Affiliate Companies" means any corporation, partnership, limited liability company or other business entity controlled by, controlling or under common control with the Company. One entity shall be presumed to control another if it owns directly, or indirectly through other Affiliated Companies, a majority of the outstanding voting equity interests of the other entity.

10. By signing this letter, you hereby agree to co-operate with and assist the Company to process and record your resignation from any offices that you may hold in the Company, in any company or in any associated entities or in any affiliates that you may be holding offices on behalf of the Company, and to sign necessary documents effectuating such resignations. You hereby authorize the Company to do what is necessary in this regard.

11. You acknowledge and agree that the payments and benefits promised to be provided under this letter along with your employment dues will constitute full and final settlement of all statutory and contractual claims against the Company and/or any of its clients, officers or employees, in relation to your employment with the Company and its cessation, including but not limited to any claim for compensation for unfair dismissal, if at all, in accordance with applicable law. Your full and final settlement shall be paid as set forth under Annexure A. The payment of all amounts shall be considered as full and final settlement of all your employment-related dues. You will not have any other claims against the Company, its affiliates, officers, partners, directors, employees and / or agents for breach of any contract, compensation for loss of office, termination of employment, unpaid remuneration, or any other reason or ground whatsoever. By virtue of cessation of your employment in terms of this letter, the Company and all of its officers or employees and all of its clients and customers, shall stand released from all other claims (whether contractual, statutory or otherwise and whether present or contingent) that you have or may have arising out of or in connection with your employment or its cessation.

12. In all cases of separation of employment contemplated hereunder, you will be paid the other amounts due to you as per the terms of your employment and Company policies along with all other statutory dues payable as per the applicable law. The payment of all amounts owed to you under this letter and your existing terms of employment shall be a full and final settlement and shall be made, in accordance with Annexure A upon your submission of an acknowledged and accepted copy of this letter. A detailed break-up of the full and final settlement amount is as set forth under Annexure A of this letter. It is clarified hereby that the payment of Ex-gratia Compensation shall be made as part of the full and final settlement.

13. You will receive 3 months of outplacement support from the Company's designated HR solution provider to be commenced within 3 months from the Separation Date, the details of which will be provided to you separately.

14. You shall complete your exit formalities and handover all Company assets to the Company on the date as notified by your HR Business Partner. The Company shall provide you with an experience certificate and relieving letter after completion of your exit related formalities to the satisfaction of the Company.

15. At the time of your separation from the Company, you will cease to hold any position you held as an office-bearer, officer, trustee, or member of any internal or any external committees, affiliations, or as a representative or employee of the Company and will assist the Company in making the necessary filings/documentation in this regard.

16. Cessation of your employment shall not affect the provisions contained in your terms of employment including your contract of employment and/ or fiduciary duties, that are intended to survive separation and such provisions shall continue to survive and be binding and effective on you in accordance with the terms of your contract of employment. Any failure on your part to respect the obligations under the surviving provisions from the terms of your employment, including under your contract of employment, will cause irreparable harm to the Company and the Company shall have a right of action against you.

17. All payments made pursuant to this letter will be subject to the applicable tax deductions. Apart from such tax withholding, you will be wholly responsible for any tax incidence on payment(s) made under this letter. You shall fully and effectively indemnify the Company against any such tax liability (whether or not the Company is primarily liable to the relevant tax authority in respect of the liability in question).

22. It is expressly understood and agreed that the restrictions contained herein are reasonable for the protection of the legitimate business interest of the Company, the Company's intellectual property rights, goodwill of the Company, commercial secrets, operations, levels of competition and reputation. If a final judicial determination is made by a court or other authority of competent jurisdiction that the time or territory or any other restriction contained in this letter is an unenforceable restriction against you, the provisions of this letter shall not be rendered void but shall be deemed amended to apply as to such maximum time and territory and to such maximum extent as such court or authority may judicially determine or indicate to be enforceable. Alternatively, if any court or authority of competent jurisdiction finds that any restriction contained in this letter is unenforceable, and such restriction cannot be amended so as to make it enforceable, such finding shall not affect the enforceability of any of the other restrictions contained herein.

23. During the Separation Period, you shall continue to comply with all Company policies including but not limited to the Code of Conduct.

24. Whenever possible, each term of this letter will be interpreted in such manner as to be effective and valid under applicable law and any term which is held to be invalid, illegal, or unenforceable under any applicable law will not affect any other terms of this letter. Further, such a term will be deemed replaced by a term that is valid, legal and enforceable and comes closest to expressing the intention of the invalid, illegal or unenforceable term. Any amendments to the contents of this letter will be in writing.

25. Any dispute, controversy or difference between you and the Company arising out of or relating to this letter including a dispute relating to the validity, existence or breach of this letter and any non-contractual obligations arising out of or in connection with this letter ("Dispute") shall be referred to and finally resolved through arbitration by an arbitration panel consisting of three arbitrators, one to be appointed by the Company, the second to be appointed by you, each within 15 calendar days from the date when such Dispute arises and the third arbitrator to be appointed by the arbitrators so appointed within 15 calendar days thereafter. The seat of the arbitration shall be Haryana. The language of the arbitration shall be English. The arbitration shall be conducted in accordance with the Arbitration and Conciliation Act, 1996. The arbitration award of the arbitrators shall be final and binding on you and the Company and shall be enforceable in accordance with its terms.

    This letter shall be governed by the laws of India, without regard to principles of conflict of laws.

    The courts of Haryana shall have jurisdiction with respect to matters ancillary to the arbitral process, including, proceedings to compel or otherwise in support of the arbitral process.
